

How a Free Search Audit Changed the Game for a Midwest University

Spring Arbor University offers a blend of faith-based education and academic excellence, attracting students seeking a Christian worldview alongside strong career preparation. Regionally accredited by The Higher Learning Commission, Spring Arbor offers undergraduate and graduate programs in various fields, including arts & sciences, business, education, nursing, and more. There are many things that make this university unique and desirable, including small class sized, active campus life, career support, and a small-town atmosphere with big city amenities.

Spring Arbor was looking for ways to bolster its student recruitment campaigns. While they were already utilizing multi-marketing strategies, they were looking for a more strategic approach to drive even better results. The Advance Education team was eager to examine their current search campaign, understanding that paid search drives the majority of last-touch online conversions. A stronger search campaign would help to reach more potential students and increase applications, leading to increased enrollment.

Our Findings are Sound, and Supportive Data is Supplied

The results of a search audit produce many results. It's important that we carefully examine what elements of a current campaign might be turned up or down, abandoned or embraced to make the difference. Here are just a few of the items our team examines in an audit of a search campaign:

- Organic and Paid SERP rankings
- Relevance of Content to Current Search Terms
- Authority Scores
- Backlinks Footprint
- PPC results, geographies, audiences, and share of voice
- Ensuring accurate event and online conversion tracking

Focusing on learning and improvement, this research often results in findings that surprise our clients. Ad types that are no longer relevant, geographical anomalies, frequency modeling, avoidance or inconsistencies with best practices, to name a few. In the case of Spring Arbor, our audit did present findings that could be immediately addressed. In just the first 60 days following our reconstruction of this campaign, we achieved the following results.

Dramatic Increases in Online Conversions
